HOMEWARD BOUND! 800 WAR WAIFS THRILLED BY TRIP 'ROUND WORLD

Are these children glad to be heading for home? They look it! They are some of the 800 whom the American Red Cross is escorting back to their parents. Many of the children come from wealthy families of Russia.

N. E. A. Staff Special.
NEW YORK—One of the great war's strangest stories is nearing conclusion. It's the flight and return home of 800 Russian children, most of them of the educated classes of that country. They recently arrived in San Francisco, under care of the American Red Cross, from Vladivostok, where for the last year they had been provided for on an island off that port.

HOMEWARD BOUND.
They are now en route to New York by way of the Panama canal. From New York they will start on the last lap of their journey to Petrograd—to their mothers and fathers—who have escaped the horrors of the last two years.

Many fathers and mothers in Petrograd feared for the safety of their children when the revolution moved to ward its height in the spring of 1918. So in groups of 10, 20 or 50, they sent them, with nurses and teachers, to peaceful Siberia.

But the revolution grew; the battle line soon swept on toward Siberia, putting up a barrier of fire between the parents in Petrograd and their loved ones to the east.

RED CROSS AIDS.
Funds soon dwindled; supplies became exhausted, and the bolshevik armies swept on into Siberia. The teachers turned to Admiral Kolchak's Omsk government for help. That government in turn appealed to "The Greatest Mother in the World." The Red Cross quickly responded.

Group after group was taken over by the Red Cross, which established colonies in Siberia. But as the Reds captured town after town, complete evacuation was necessary. Often, only one day ahead of the bolsheviks, the children—now 800—were put on special trains, guarded by American doughboys, and sent to Vladivostok.

LIVED ON ISLAND.
They were then moved to Russia Island, about six miles from the city, to live in army barracks. Here, under the care of most of the Russian nurses and teachers, in addition to American instructors, doctors, nurses, and German and Austrian prisoners to do the heavy work, they studied and played the last year—and longed for home.

The children range in ages from 3 to 17. What Petrograd holds for them and how many will find their parents and relatives, is a question.

This Red Cross personnel is accompanying them home:

R. R. TICKETS GO UP AUG. 26

Both Freight and Passenger Rates to Be Increased Next Week

Passenger rates throughout the United States will be increased 25 per cent August 26, according to information received today by Thompson Corn, general passenger agent at the Union depot. Tickets purchased prior to August 26 and partly used, will be honored on return trips, it was stated.

While the decision of the public utilities commission of Utah will not be rendered until tomorrow, it is an almost assured fact that the rates will be granted, Mr. Corn said. Several states in the union have already acted on the proposed increase.

Freight rates will be increased August 25. From the east coast to the west coast the country will be divided into three zones, the first zone being from the Atlantic coast to Chicago, the second zone from Chicago to Cheyenne, Wyo., and the third zone from Cheyenne to the Pacific coast.

In the rate increases material shipped from the east coast to the boundary of the first zone will be increased 40 per cent. From the boundary of the first zone to the line of the second zone, the rates will be increased 35 per cent, while an increase of 25 per cent will be noted in materials shipped in the third zone. If freight is shipped from one zone to another an increase of 33 1/3 per cent will be registered. Freight shipped from eastern points on the eve of August 24 or from western points on that day will be billed through under the present rates, it is said.

ALL NEWS MUST COME FROM ME, SHERIFF ASSERTS

Newspapermen of Ogden and Salt Lake were amused today by the announcement of Sheriff H. C. Peterson that until further notice all news in which the sheriff's office is interested will be given out to the press only by the sheriff and then only when he is ready to give out the news.

The newspapermen were amused because a broad interpretation of the rule means that in the event Bill McSpillville or somebody else runs off the state highway and smears himself over the landscape it would be necessary for Ogden and Salt Lake newspapers to ask the sheriff if they could please publish the story.

The rule is not so amusing to the sheriff's deputies, however. They feel that it is a slap at them, as the investigation of the sheriff has no confidence in their judgment.
